Zandspruit Airshow 2015

Heidi Lee Smith

HOEDSPRUIT – This weekend, spectators from far and wide will be attending the second Zandspruit Bush & Aero Estate Airshow. If you missed the first one in 2013, make sure you don't miss this one. The 2013 Airshow was runner up in the South African Airshow of the Year rankings, quite some feat for a small town, and a first ever Airshow.

'This time we are going for gold!' Says Martin den Dunnen, co-developer of Zandspruit.

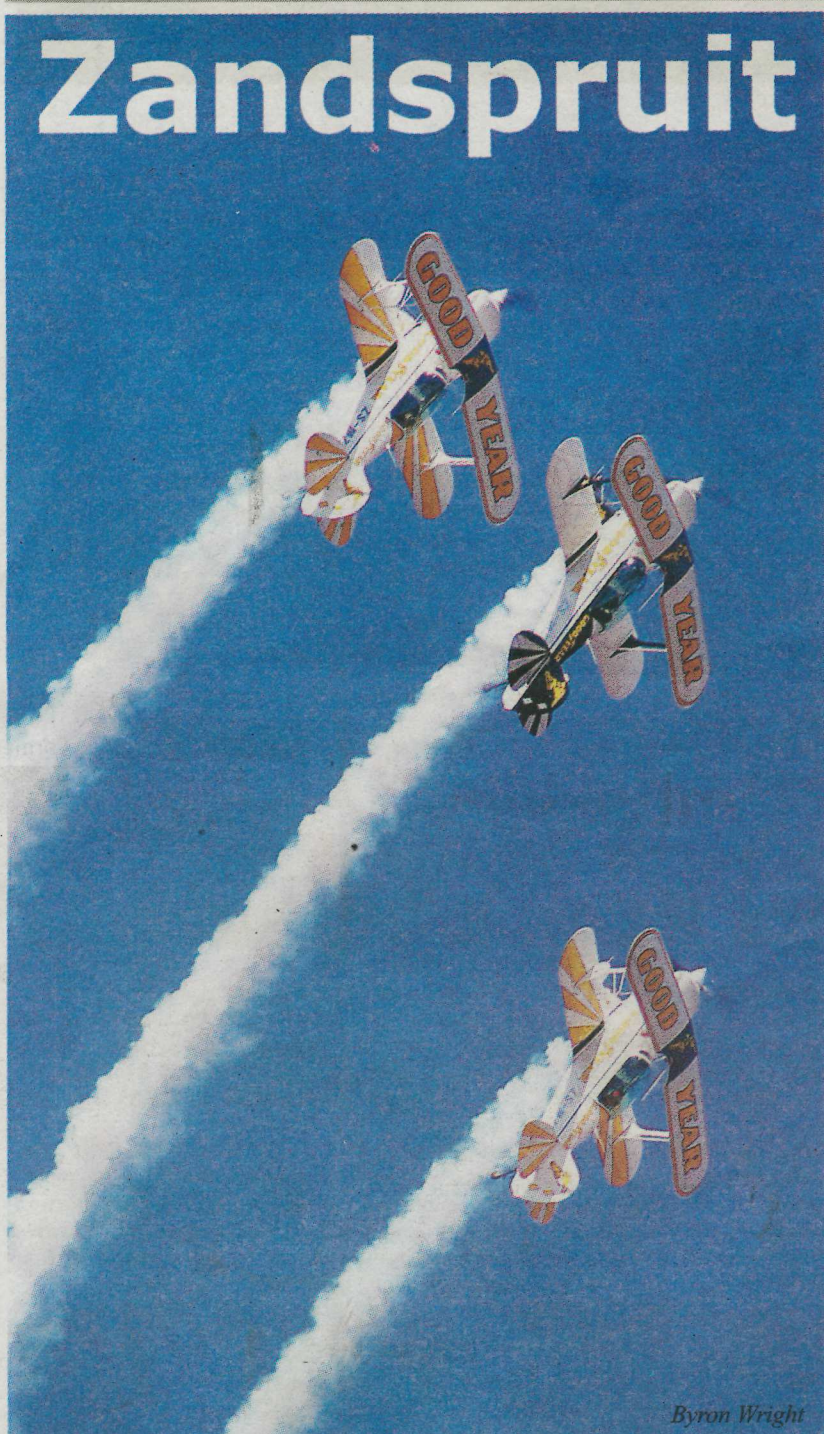

The expected 3 000 plus visitors will be dazzled by the flying skills of some of our top South African pilots, flying some of the most prized collectables in the country such as Mustang Sally, the Flying Lion Harvards, the Gabriel Pitts Specials, Bathawk, T28 Trojan, the GoodYear Pitts Specials and then complimented by an array of Skydivers and much more!

A guaranteed feature will be the participation of the Silver Falcon Aerobatic Team, the official display team of the South African Air Force. Their aim is to inspire the youth, promote aviation and showcase the skill of the SAAF pilots to the general public. This special group of pilots are full-time flying instructors at Air Force Base Langebaan in the Cape, and their aerobatic flying of the Pilatus PC-7 MK 11 comes as an extra, over and above their full-time commitments.

There will be lots of exhibitors and stalls, amongst them: Model aircrafts, Colleen Wall and Wim Snyman with pallet furniture, House of Froggit, Africology Spa, Harley Davidson and many more. Drakensig School will be catering for the food.

Tickets can be bought online at www.plankton.mobi or for cash at Hoedspruit-info (while stocks last). Limited tickets will be available at the door, but no CASH only credit card payments will be accepted and you will have to queue twice, once for the tickets and once at the entrance gate. Avoid this frustration and get your ticket in advance!
